

Milwaukee County Executive Scott Walker today released the following statement regarding the proposed announcement by Continental Properties Company, Inc of an agreement with the Briggs & Stratton Corporation regarding the property at 124th & Burleigh streets:

“Any time that we can turn open factory space into the development of new jobs, it is good for Milwaukee County. I am optimistic that the announcement by Continental Properties about their agreement with Briggs & Stratton will lead to new jobs and development at 124th and Burleigh streets.”

“This area is ripe for growth and I believe this will be a benefit for people in Wauwatosa, Milwaukee County and the region. We look forward to working with Mayor Estness and the City Council – along with residents throughout the area – on this project.”
